Reduce uncompensated care and bad debt and successfully manage your eligibility process

Successfully managing margins is a significant challenge for hospitals and health systems in a volatile reimbursement environment marked by the rising number of uninsured and underinsured patients seeking care. The competition for limited federal, state, and community-based benefits, as well as the allocation of charity care funds, can overwhelm a hospital's collections process and staff, directly affecting the bottom line. Reducing uncompensated care and bad debt expense, while serving a growing self pay population, requires effective eligibility process management.

Perot Systems provides customized eligibility solutions that focus on converting self pay accounts to third-party coverage, mitigating bad debt exposure, diminishing charity care liability, and reducing uncompensated care to significantly improve incremental cash collection and management of your entire revenue cycle.

Our revenue cycle professionals have comprehensive knowledge of healthcare revenue cycle management and can successfully navigate complex government eligibility and reimbursement processes. Backed by Perot Systems' disciplined methodologies and cutting-edge technology, our associates work onsite and offsite with your staff to accurately identify patient accounts eligible for conversion, ensure timely reimbursement through patient education and advocacy, and increase cash collection.
